Hokie Stone

Hokie Stone is the first thing a visitor is apt to notice upon entering the core of the Virginia Tech campus, and it’s likely the most enduring visual memory an alumnus carries long after having moved on to meet life’s other opportunities and challenges. Known as “our native stone” when first used in campus building construction back in 1901, this attractive and distinctive stone more recently assumed the moniker “Hokie Stone,” reflecting its status as a Virginia Tech architectural tradition and represents the solid foundation of the university and its students.
Welcome to the 21st Hokie Harvest Sale! This Livestock Merchandising Class is a great one and I am so excited to be working with them and the VT staff to present this offering of superior genetics.

Just as these students rank at the top of their peers in the industry, this cattle offering blends superior quality in pedigree, production, performance and breed ranking. Virginia Tech has long been respected nationally for producing quality students and quality genetics for the livestock industry.

Come experience the Harvest on October 30th. If you cannot attend, feel free to contact me to assist you with selection and bidding.

Best regards,
Ken Brubaker
Dear Friends:

We would like to welcome you to the 21st Annual Hokie Harvest Sale managed by the 2015 Livestock Merchandising Class and hosted by the Department of Animal and Poultry Sciences at Virginia Tech. This course has been a fantastic experience for us to work with such outstanding undergraduate students over the past 20 years, many of which have become industry leaders and prominent livestock producers.

As many of you know, the Hokie Harvest Sale has developed a significant reputation for selling high quality, university-owned beef cattle. There is no better time than now to be in the cattle business, whether your operation is commercial or purebred. This year’s offering features both purebred and commercial beef cattle and again showcases our students in an experiential learning environment. The Hokie Harvest is more than just a beef cattle sale; it’s an exciting, fun-filled day with impressive beef cattle, great fellowship, and delicious food! Don’t miss out on this opportunity to witness our future industry leaders in action.

This production sale is unique to the university and the Commonwealth of Virginia because it has been organized and managed by 97 Virginia Tech students. Both two- and four-year students have gained “hands-on” experience in sale management, budgeting, advertising, cataloging, clerking, and livestock photography. Students have worked extremely hard in the planning and preparation of our production sale, which includes 54 head of registered and commercial beef cattle.

This year’s sale has a fewer number of purebred cow/calf pairs than previous years due to a limited purebred inventory. Breeders of purebred Hereford, Simmental, and Angus cattle will be able to select AI-sired progeny from a cross-section of the VT Beef Cattle herd. Some of our very best females and bulls have been hand-picked stemming from elite donors that combine curve-bending EPDs, breed-changing genetics, and acceptable phenotype. Mature cows with proven production records and promising herd sires from predictable cow families will be sold. All five spring-born calves will sell separately from their dams. A strong set of pregnant commercial cows and heifers will also be offered. Cowbuyer LLC will again provide online bidding if you are unable to attend but you must register at www.cowbuyer.com at least one hour before the sale in order to watch/bid online in real-time.

The Department of Animal and Poultry Sciences takes great pride in our university, our livestock, and especially our students. We encourage you to ‘Come and Experience the Harvest’ on Friday, October 30th and get to know this great group of future industry leaders. Funds generated from the Hokie Harvest will continue to provide funding critical to the survival of departmental programs. Many thanks to all of you for your past support and interest in our beef teaching program. If we may be of assistance in any way, please feel free to contact us.

Sincerely,

Dan Eversole, Director
Beef Cattle Programs

Chad Joines, Director
Beef Cattle Operations

Dear Friends and Supporters,

It is our honor and privilege as the 2015 Livestock Merchandising Class at Virginia Tech to present you with the 21st Annual Hokie Harvest Sale catalog. As we strive to uphold the high standards set by previous classes of quality and tradition, we request your presence on Friday, October 30 at the 2015 Hokie Harvest Sale in Blacksburg, Virginia. The sale will begin at 6:30 PM in the Animal Judging Pavilion located at 500 Plantation Road.

Now in its 21st year, this auction continues to be a joint effort of all the students in the Livestock Merchandising Class. Willing professionals have served as guest speakers during class time and have educated us on sale preparation and administration as we plan and oversee the sale. Organizing the Hokie Harvest Sale teaches our class valuable skills such as management of a production sale, while still providing high quality, hand-picked livestock to the public. This year’s auction will include both commercial and purebred beef cattle. All proceeds from the sale directly benefit departmental programs.

We appreciate your invaluable support and invite you to attend a complimentary barbecue dinner served prior to sale time. “Come Experience the Harvest” with us at the 21st Annual Hokie Harvest Sale!

Sincerely,
Catalog and Social Media Committee
